Every piece in this collection is thoughtfully designed to stand the test of time - and the elements. A little summer rain? No problem with our weather-resistant cushions.

The removable side and back panels make seasonal care a breeze: When packing things up for the off-season, loosen two small screws on the armrests, unzip the panels underneath the frame, and simply pull them off to store in a dry place. It's quick, and easy, and keeps your furniture looking fresh. When spring rolls around and you're ready to soak up the outdoors again, just reassemble your sofa and enjoy another season of style and comfort. Simple, smart, and built for your lifestyle.

Our new teak collection is all about high-quality design that's as beautiful as it is durable. Made with certified plantation teak and weather-resistant twisted cords, each piece offers effortless style and durability, with minimal upkeep.

But it's not just about looks. We've carefully chosen materials that stand the test of time and implemented eco-conscious practices, like flat-pack shipping, to reduce our environmental footprint.

Mindo 123 is more than just furniture - it's a legacy of comfort, style, and responsibility, made to be enjoyed now and cherished for generations to come.

"Good design, to me, means creating pieces that last - timeless, functional, and built to stay relevant. Comfort is a must for furniture, but so is sustainability - both in the materials we choose and how we make them. That's why I made sure the teak slats are individually replaceable, adding to the long life of this lounge group."

OUR DESIGNERS

AT MINDO, WE ARE PROUD OF THE RELATIONSHIP WE HAVE WITH OUR DESIGNERS. WE SHARE A LOVE FOR AESTHETICS, FUNCTIONAL DESIGN, AND HIGH CRAFTSMANSHIP. AND WE SHARE A PASSION FOR DETAILS AND A MINDSET, WHERE WE AIM TO PUSH "GOOD ENOUGH" TO SOMETHING BETTER.

Rikke Frost, Denmark

Rikke, a Danish designer, has run her design studio in Århus since 2004. When designing, Rikke focuses on the relevance and longevity of a product and its impact on our environment, both now and in the future. Rikke's designs for mindo are minimal without ever losing comfort, functionality, or aesthetic magic. Her furniture has a playful quality to it, which she emphasizes with thoughtful details for the user to discover and engage with.

Christian Juhl, Denmark

Christian is a gifted design talent who has won numerous prestigious prizes, amongst them the renowned Finn Juhl design prize (there is no family connection). He feels that part of his strength as a furniture designer stems from his background in carpentry. For mindo, Christian used innovative 3D-knit, a fabric made from recycled bottles to create the unique mindo 114 chairs. Central to Christian's design philosophy is the aim that his furniture serves a purpose and is functional, regardless of its sculptural aesthetic.

Odosdesign, Spain

The Valencia-based design agency Odosdesign, namely Ana Segovia and Luis Calabuig, are dedicated to integrating creativity and communication in product design. In their collaboration with mindo, their success lies in the ability to understand and translate our vision into furniture that truly embodies our initial ideas. By emphasizing the core element of each creation and placing focus on comfort and usability, their iconic designs accurately convey our mindo mindset.

Thomas E. Alken, Denmark

Thomas is a Danish designer with a design studio in the heart of Copenhagen. Central to Thomas' design philosophy is the interaction between a product and its user, his creative process always starts with an understanding of the user's needs. Thomas shares mindo's meticulous attention to detail and materials that are the responsible choice in terms of sustainability and longevity. Privately, Thomas draws inspiration from the dynamic interplay between the established and modern design scene of the bustling city, as well as his passion for simple living in the countryside.

Jesper K. Thomsen, Denmark

Jesper is a versatile talent, both a creative industrial designer and a detail-oriented inventor. His dedication to any product he works with stems from his holistic approach to innovation and problem-solving. His own aversion to handling and storing large extension plates when hosting many guests led him to the ingenious design of a table with an extendable top. This unique solution resulted in a patent in cooperation with mindo and the backbone of a large range of extension tables and benches, namely the mindo 111 series.

Morten Bo Jensen, Denmark

Danish designer, Morten Bo Jensen, founder and Chief Designer at GROUNDWORK Studio in Copenhagen, shares a strong passion with mindo's core values in pursuing designs with longevity, innovation, and relevance. For the mindo 123 collection, Morten seamlessly blends Danish and Japanese design traditions. The minimal, functionally derived shapes, and the use of braided cords, embody Danish influences, with the diamond-shaped tabletop woodwork drawing inspiration from the intricate Japanese Kumiko craftsmanship.

Thomas Overby, CEO, mindo

Our partnership with our designers is a defining factor of our company and where all our dreams are boiled down into concrete physical designs. We aim to be relevant and move with the times, while staying connected to what we know works from our collective experience. New designs are always a mix of ideas grounded in existing possibilities. Together with our designers, we push ourselves to make the most of what we have, creating products that are not only relevant today but built to last for years. We're all driven by a passion to do our best, we care about every design, and hope they will exceed expectations - just doing a little more than you expect.

At mindo, we create furniture that enhances your space and aligns with a more eco-conscious approach.

Great design shouldn't just look good; it should last. That's why we focus on timeless, functional pieces made with high-quality materials and smart, repairable features. Instead of replacing, you can refresh, extending the life of your furniture and cutting down on waste.

We're rethinking how we work, from sourcing more local materials to shortening supply chains and optimizing packaging. It's all about reducing our footprint while delivering the same durability, premium quality, and faster lead times.

For us, sustainability is a journey. Every decision we make - choosing replaceable teak slats or designing rope panels you can switch - brings us closer to better balance. And for you? It's about owning furniture that feels right and lasts through the years, from the day you bring it home to the day you pass it on.

With mindo, you're choosing furniture that fits your space, your values, and a smarter future.

mindo QUALITY

Quality drives everything we do. We're committed to creating exceptional outdoor furniture with materials that stand up to the elements - durable, weather-resistant, and eco-friendly. Every piece is built for lasting performance. Quality is about precision, maintaining the same high standards through every unit and every production cycle.

Quality is about choosing materials that work in all climates - whether it's the heat of Australia, the rain of Norway, the humidity of India, or Denmark's shifting weather. And speaking of different countries, quality is also about our packaging, ensuring each item arrives safely, wherever it's headed in the world.

Quality is about design. Every piece is crafted to perform flawlessly and look great - timeless, functional designs that elevate any space. While materials like teak and aluminium may react differently to the weather, our designers and craftsmen have the expertise to make them work together, balancing their unique qualities to create pieces that seamlessly combine strength and style.

At mindo, quality isn't just a claim. It's in every detail.
